Greetings,

Hello from Davis. We hope you are doing well. We really miss being at home in Southern California. But, we do not regret for one minute where God has brought us to do His work. This last year has been somewhat of a whirlwind as we have been working on two campuses and in multiple movements for Campus Crusade on each. God is giving us great joy and fulfillment in our ministry and new family.

Since moving to the Sacramento area there have been many changes in our ministry. To put it simply, it has grown amazingly in the last two years. Our team is committed to reaching every student on campus, so that everyone knows someone who truly follows Jesus. In order to do this, our team has been launching multiple movements at UC Davis and also at Sacramento State this last year. When we arrived our team was leading three movements at Davis. There are now five movements at Davis and one at Sac State, and we have a vision for more. Ministry has been quite messy this last year as we are still learning how to do this, but that just means that God gets the Glory all the more. We wish we had more space to tell you all God has been doing this last year, but we are writing for a different reason.

As you may already know, we were challenged and committed to lead a pilot mission project to Central America this summer. We are launching an evangelical outreach on three major universities in San Salvador, El Salvador! It's been very exciting to see our dream of our students taking the gospel to the ends of the earth first hand. There are eight students traveling with us from our ministries at Davis and three from other universities across the United States. We are excited to see what God will do in El Salvador through our mission project team! We have a big amazing God and we know we will see amazing things happen in the lives of university students in San Salvador.

Why El Salvador in particular? With only 16% percent of the country's population professing to be evangelical Christians and the capitol city, San Salvador, carrying the title and distinction of having the largest gang violence problem of any city in the world... this is a part of the world which truly needs to hear about the love of Jesus Christ.

We want you to know we couldn't do what we do without the partnership of people like you, praying for us. Thank you so much for your partnership in our ministry. It is a privilege to be teamed up with people like you, as together we seek to help reach people for Christ. We believe that your investment of prayer will pay off in many coming to Christ.

Please pray for us as the next few weeks will be full of activity as we prepare for this trip, travel to Southern California and El Salvador, and begin fundraising for this trip as well as for our ministry here in the Sacramento area next year. Please join us by praying that God would quickly provide for our support deficits so we can minister undistracted on campus in the fall. Thanks again for all you mean to us and the part you play in our ministry. Your friendship and prayers are greatly treasured. Once again, we couldn't do what we do without you.

Serving Christ with You,
